ABOUT ME

Hello, I am a very energetic and focused multidisciplinary designer working across different artistic and design fields. My work is usually focused within visual communication and UX design, however I hold a strong passion for investigative projects as well as photography. The first step in my work is always research, with a wish to fully understand an idea before I give it form. A general holistic approach using a combination of different skill sets is applied to almost all of my work. Along with that I take part in many international and collaborative projects that keep widening my perspective.
